DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

Applicant's Amendment filed March 1, 2005 has been fully considered and entered.

Terminal Disclaimer

The terminal disclaimer filed on March 1, 2005 disclaiming the terminal portion of any patent granted on this application which would extend beyond the expiration date of any patent granted on Application Number 10/325,198 has been reviewed and is accepted. The terminal disclaimer has been recorded.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1, 2 and 5-23 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The prior art cited on form PTO-892, which was attached to the previous Office action, is the most relevant prior art known. However, the invention of claims 1, 2 and 5-23 distinguishes over the prior art of record for the following reasons.

Regarding claims 1, 2 and 5-9; the claims are allowable over the prior art of record because none of the references either alone or in combination disclose or render obvious a method of generating optical data encoded in a first format as defined in claim 1, the method comprising optically retiming the first optical data to reduce jitter associated with the first optical data such that the first optical data is converted to a second optical data encoded in the second format, wherein the second optical data has a second level of jitter, and wherein the second optical data represents the optical data encoded in the second format, inputting into an optical pulse stretcher the optical data encoded second format, and outputting from the optical pulse stretcher the optical data encoded in the first format, wherein the optical data encoded in the first format has a third level of jitter in combination with the other limitations of claim 1. Claims 2 and 5-9 depend from claim 1.

Regarding claims 10-17; the claims are allowable over the prior art of record because none of the references either alone or in combination disclose or render obvious a system as defined in claim 10, comprising the combination of an optical retiming device adapted to receive the first optical data and adapted to reduce jitter associated with the first optical data by converting the first optical data to a second optical data encoded in a second format, wherein the second optical data has a second level of jitter, wherein the optical retiming device outputs the second optical data, and an optical pulse stretcher adapted to receive the second optical data, adapted to convert the second optical data to a third optical data encoded in the first format, and adapted to output the third optical data encoded in the first format, wherein the third optical data has a third level of jitter in combination with the other limitations of claim 10. Claims 11-17 depend from claim 10.

Regarding claims 18-23; the claims are allowable over the prior art of record because none of the references either alone or in combination disclose or render obvious an optical pulse stretcher as defined in claim 18, comprising an optical retiming device adapted to receive optical data encoded in a first format and adapted to reduce jitter associated with the optical data by converting encoding to a second format, wherein the optical data encoded in the first format has a first level of jitter and optical data encoded in the second format has a second level of jitter, and means for converting the optical data encoded in the second format to optical data encoded in the first format, wherein the optical data encoded in the first format has a third level of jitter in combination with the other limitations of claim 18. Claims 19-23 depend from claim 18.

Hence, there is no reason or motivation for one of ordinary skill in the art to use the prior art of record to make the invention of claims 1, 2 and 5-23.

Conclusion

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
